To Whom It May Concern,

As the owner and treating physical therapist of Almanor Physical Therapy at Seneca Healthcare District, I would like to provide you with an update as to our business operation status in light of the COVID-19 pandemic.

The California Public Health Officer has declared physical therapy as part of the essential workforce under the healthcare and public health sector. We are expected to, and will, continue our operations to improve and restore public health and function as we always have with some prudent modifications.

I want to assure you that we have taken additional safety measures which include, among other things, regular sanitizing of equipment and balancing our patient load to improve distancing and to meet all guidelines proposed by government officials. Further, we can, and are, taking additional individualized precautions as necessary to address specific patient needs and concerns.

Efforts have been made to personally contact all of our current patients regarding the aforementioned status and operational changes being implemented. Additionally, I am also contacting physicians and other referring providers, as time allows, so they are also aware of our status and can continue to refer appropriate physical therapy patients with confidence.

If you have any additional questions or concerns, please contact our office directly and encourage others to do the same.

Sincerely,

Steven G. Brown, DPT
